Participant Panel

Agenda

- Benefits of Audio Lecture
- What Tools Are Out There
- Tips, Tricks and Things to Consider

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Literature

- Key Points
  - An overwhelming majority of students (86%) stated they would like more lectures available online in the future, despite the low use throughout the semester.

---

---

Literature

- Key Points
  - Vast majority of students considered lecture capture a good way to learn and study for course assessment items
  - Furthermore, approximately eight out of ten agreed that on-line lectures helped them revise lecture content at their own pace

Creating a PowerPoint with Audio

- First create a sound lecture
- Second make sure the lecture is visually appealing
- Finally, provide ancillary information

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Guidelines for Creating Audio Slide Shows

- Keep them less than 15 minutes when possible
- If they are longer than 15 minutes, chunk them into "parts"
- If you have multiple topics in one lecture, make them separate presentations
- Be concise in the lecture; get to the point
- Provide PowerPoint as handout or provide lecture outline

Tips and Tricks

- Test your Audio and Video Before Recording
- Put a Sign on Your Door
- Have a Script
  - This can be your transcript to post along with your audio clip (Think ADA)
